"BLUE JEANS" WILLIAMS and Sam. Randall is the latest Democrat boom.

SECRETARY SHERMAN made a speech the other day at Lewistown, Me., the closing sentence of which out-stalwarted the stalwarts.

Why don't Ewing resign his seat in Congress? Is it because he thinks he won't be elected Governor of Ohio and wants a soft snap to fall back on?

In his speech at the court house yesterday, Senator Bailey paid a handsome tribute to the honesty of the late Senator W. G. Brownlow, which was received with applause.

Cotton is no longer king. For the eleven months ending May 30th, the exportation of breadstuffs has exceeded in value not only that of cotton but of cotton and tobacco combined.

The Indianapolis Journal has the following:

"Has anybody seen or heard of Dr. De La Maty, the member of Congress from this District? Any information concerning him will be thankfully received at this office. As this is his first and last term in Congress, his admiring constituents want to keep track of him as it were. Although, in a political sense, he is a thing of beauty, they do not expect to enjoy him forever."

PEOPLE may look out for the President to be impeached at the next session. He has ordered that some supplies which were appropriated for some other purpose be distributed among the poor at Memphis. As soon as Bronze John has gone into winter quarters and the scare he aroused has subsided, some Southern Congressmen, probably a Tennesseean, will arise in his place and move an impeachment. This is Democratic gratitude and consequently not unlikely.

The speaking at Maryville.

MARYVILLE, July 29, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: Messrs. Porter and Brien spoke here yesterday to a large audience, and their remarks were well received. After the speaking Gen. Brien called for a vote, for all who favored the compromise to rise to their feet. Nearly everybody arose. Then for all who favored repudiation to rise. Not one stuck up his head. Many of our people will not vote at all, because they say it is only a question between partial and total repudiation, and they do not want to take part in repudiation at all. Besides this is the work of the Legislature cowardly thrown off on the people.

YELLOW FEVER RECORD.

The Outlook No Better at Memphis Up to Date.

Six New Cases Reported to the Board of Health Yesterday.

Camp Established and The Poor Being Removed There to.

A Second "Suspicious Case" Developed in New Orleans.

YELLOW FEVER.

MEMPHIS, July 29.—There were six new cases of yellow fever reported to the Board of Health this morning. Among the number are S. A. Hatcher, of R. L. Cochran & Co., Maria Lanahan, E. Rosenheim and Toney Botto. Late last night a messenger arrived from Raleigh, Tenn., for a nurse to tend Nora, daughter of Chief of Police Athy, who was down with yellow fever.

Col. Cameron, with his detail of colored soldiers, took quiet possession of the grounds selected for the establishment of the camp, and by 6 o'clock this morning had 125 tents erected. The first train with refugees will leave this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The policy of the authorities to furnish rations only to those who are in camps will be strictly observed. All the mail matter leaving this city is thoroughly disinfected, under the personal supervision of inspecting officers of the National Board of Health. The weather continues sultry.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29.—There has been but one death from yellow fever in this city this year, that of the Spanish girl yesterday morning. The second case reported to the Board of Health was a two year old child of Dr. Moinegro, corner of Magazine and Washington streets, who is now convalescent. It is regarded as a doubtful case. The Times says its report is visited yesterday every doubtful case known to the doctors. They express the opinion that none of them have the yellow fever. It would be almost impossible for a case to escape the vigilance of the State Board of Health, the National Board of Health authorities and the Sanitary Auxiliary Association officials, who know of no case other than those before mentioned.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—9 p. m.—There are no new cases of yellow fever reported. A little child at 105 Bourbon street, who was brought here Sunday night from Morgan City, has the black vomit and will die. The child and its parents were sent here by the Morgan City authorities.

CAIRO, Ills., July 29.—Hickman, Ky., has established quarantine against all steamboats from up or down the river. The Cairo quarantine as yet only prohibits the landing of steamers that have touched at or near the infected ports. The health of the city is good.

SUNDAY'S SICK AND DEATH ROLL.

MEMPHIS, July 27.—Fourteen new cases were reported to the Board of Health to-day. They are as follows: Miles Owen, Brooks Wilson James Meath, Mrs. B. McMahon, F. Widrig, Patrick Kelly, Ben. Adams, Mrs. Jane E. Foster and Mary Conley, white; Thos. Langford, Thos. Simmons, Louis McGill, Rufus Montgomery and Sallie Hunt, colored. Nine deaths from yellow fever have occurred since last night, as follows: C. M. Widrig, Eva Widrig, Henry Parthesius, Louis H. Wehrum, Mrs. W. Hammerle, Mrs. James Ashbrook, Ed. Kearney, Mary Burns and Chas. Philmot.

TEXAS.

GALVESTON, July 28.—A special dispatch to the News from San Antonio, gives the following particulars of the killing of Thos. F. Dewes by Chas. Temple: Chas. Temple and James Ord, son of Gen. Ord, Department Commander, were riding from the town of Pleasanton, when they were hailed by Thomas F. Dewes between whom and Temple a feud existed. Temple asked Dewes what was wanted, when the latter knocked him from his horse with his fist. Temple retreated, but was followed by Dewes, who continued striking him. Finally Temple drew a knife and plunged it into Dewes' heart, causing instant death. Temple and Ord were arrested, but the latter has since been released.

GALVESTON, TEX., July 29.—A special from Fort Davis to the News says: Major Courtney skirmished with Indians at Salt Lakes, seventy-five miles west of this post, on Saturday. Two soldiers were badly wounded and ten horses were captured from the Indians.

A dispatch from McKinney, Tex., says: A tornado struck this place from the north this evening, completely demolishing the Christian Church, the flying timbers from which damaged several adjacent houses. No casualties.

MINOR DISPATCHES.

ORANGE C. H., Va., July 29.—The baggage-car of the north-bound mail and passenger train of the Virginia Midland Railroad was thrown from the track near this place last night by the breaking of a truck. F. H. Stannard, of Mobile, Ala., leaped from the platform and fractured his left leg. One other person was injured. The track was cleared after five hours delay. Mr. Stannard is doing well.

Quick Wit Wins.

Utica Observer.

Years ago, into a wholesale grocery store in Boston, walked a tall, muscular-looking man, evidently a high comer from some backwoods town in Maine or New Hampshire. A costing the first person he met, who happened to be the merchant himself, he asked:

"You don't want to hire a man in your store, do you?"

"Well, I don't know, 'I don't know, what can you do?"

"Do!" said the man; "I rather guess I can turn my hand to almost anything—what do you want done?"

"Well, if I was to hire a man, it would be one that could lift well, a strong, wiry fellow; one, for instance, that could shoulder a sack of coffee like that yonder, and carry it across the floor and never lay it down."

"There, now, Cap'n," said the countryman, "that's just me. I can lift anything I bitch to; you can, suit me better. What will you give a man that will suit you?"

"I'll tell you," said the merchant, "if you will shoulder that sack of coffee and carry it across the store twice and never lay it down, I will hire you a year at $100 per month."

"Done," said the stranger, and by this time every clerk in the store had gathered around and waited to join in the laugh against the man, who, walked up to the sack, threw it over his shoulder with perfect ease, though extremely heavy, and walking with it twice across the store went quietly to a large hook which was fastened to the wall, and hanging it up, turned to the merchant and said:

"There, now, it may hang there all day long. I shall never lay it down. What shall I go about, mister? Just give me plenty to do and $100 per month, and it's all right."

The clerks broke into a laugh and the merchant, discomfited yet satisfied, bent his agreement, and to-day the green countryman is the senior partner in the firm, and is worth a million dollars.

River News.

The following arrivals were noted at the wharf yesterday by our special reporter:

Capt. Paily, from the French Broad, with 9000 of wood, and Capt. King with 9000 also, both purchased by Robt. Kennedy.

Capt. Coswell, with a yawl load of 100 dozen eggs, 112 chickens and 50 pounds of butter.

Don't forget Aker's auction sale tomorrow morning, advertised elsewhere.

Mr. J. J. Gibbs, Postal Clerk on the Bristol and Chattanooga line, has taken his family to the residence of his father, in this county, where they will spend a portion of the summer. He returned to Chattanooga to take his run this morning.

MONTVALE SPRINGS.

A Pleasant Party—Amusements, &amp;c.

Quite a number of Knoxvilleans, as well as several parties from a distance, in all some three back loads, well crowded, made up the Montvale party Saturday evening. The trip was pleasant, as usual, with the exception of a heavy shower between Maryville and Montvale, making the road a little rough. Yet it was not an unpleasant drive to us, for to get into the woods and away from the heat of the city, is always a source of pleasure to us; and upon the whole the roads from Maryville to Montvale are not bad. We found a good supper in waiting, and after refreshing ourselves, looked around for some way of passing a few hours pleasantly. A game of ten-pins was proposed, as several of the gentlemen who went over that day expected to return to the city on Monday, and by means of candles placed along the alley, light sufficient was procured, and the game progressed. We were on the losing side, but then it was terrible how the other side cheated, all for fun, of course. We couldn't count worth a cent, and had never learned to make "strikes" with two balls and "spares" with three, and were not aware that you had to roll until you knocked the pins all down, regardless of the number of balls it required, and then six to five was worse than all. Well, there was lots of fun in the game, and Montvale is the place to have fun and enjoy yourself. Everybody there seems anxious to have each and every other body feel at home, and thus it is really very pleasant.

Our genial friend, Judge Rogers, is enjoying Montvale splendidly. He likes to take afternoon naps in a hammock, but after the second fall, Sunday afternoon, concluded in the future to have the hammock as close to the ground as possible. The Judge displayed considerable agility in picking himself up after the rope gave way, but he wasn't fast enough to escape the attention of the boys, and a good laugh at his expense was the result.

A Jewish Rabi, Dr. Samfield, entertained a large audience in the parlor, on Sabbath night, with an excellent lecture on the moral lessons of the Bible. His subject was well selected with a view to the audience he was to address, comprising almost every description of beliefs, and he handled it in a masterly manner. All we heard speak of it were highly entertained. Messrs. Wilson & Anderson are making every effort to please their guests, and we feel satisfied they are meeting with success. They have now a large and pleasant party there, and we hope that still more will find their way to Montvale before the season is over, and with the present regulations guarding against every possibility of any one coming there directly from the yellow fever districts, we see no reason why they should not have all they can entertain.

Superintendent Grant, of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, has been compelled to discontinue the trains on that line west of Moscow thirty-nine miles out of Memphis. This will not interfere with the mails, however, as an engine will carry them daily. Nothing else will be allowed on the engine, and the mails are to be thoroughly fumigated. The Howard Association in Memphis say they need no assistance from physicians and nurses from abroad, and under no circumstances will the services of unacclimated persons be hereafter accepted. The official reports show that there were 24 deaths from yellow fever in Memphis during last week, and 37 from other causes, making a total death roll of 71.

Memphis Appeal, July 25th: "What is it? Is the question with physicians. Their diagnosis of the disease is conflicting. The better way is to call it yellow fever and treat it as such."

"The medical fraternity held a meeting on Wednesday night and agreed to devote their spare time to a careful study of the yellow fever." Is this making hay while the sun shines, or is it gathering in the ripened harvest? Private advices say that Judge Ray died without the marked symptoms of intense malarial fever.

New York Herald, July 23th: "Dr. David C. Cooke was called to attend Mrs. Johanna Brenau. Whatever doubts he had about the correctness of his diagnosis, of yellow fever, at first, was dispelled when he was informed that Mrs. Brenau was from Memphis." This is a new phenomenon for record, to be noted by practitioners of medicine. If any person takes sick anywhere, under any circumstances, and presents any combination of symptoms, it must be unqualifiedly called, yellow fever, if the sick one has come from Memphis!

New York Herald, July 26th: "When McKoen, fireman of the Merida, was inspected at the upper quarantine station after he had been very heavily dosed with calomel and castor oil, Dr. Vanderpool, health officer of the port, reported that McKoen's disease was not yellow fever." However, after the health officer had been apprized that McKoen was off the Merida the equanimity of the official was disturbed, he got mad, decided the disease of the fireman to be yellow fever, put a stop to the loading of the ship with supplies, talked naughtily to the commander of the vessel, and summarily ordered, at once, (back sooner?) to sail, or steam, back to quarantine, where she had previously served her time, and undergone the manipulations provided for ships from foreign ports. McKoen was in good health until the 20th. He was under treatment by a medical man until the Brooklyn Board of Health took a look into the case, learned the fact that McKoen was off the steamer Merida, then gravely resolved that he was "afflicted" with yellow fever, and the sick man was at once sent to quarantine grounds. On the 23d, Dr. Vanderpool reported the man as doing well, but very weak, and at the same time the doctor, with mainly candor declared his inability to decide whether McKoen had yellow fever or not. The fact is, as a physician viewing the symptoms presented by the patient, yellow fever would not have occurred to Dr. Vanderpool, but, as health officer of the port, bound to support the dignity of quarantine, and sustain the propriety of heavy draughts on a public treasury to retain the expensiveness of such arrangements he found in McKoen, and his habit on the steamer Merida, from a foreign port, a subject fitted to the purpose, and material for a fine sensation at a time when the denizens of the great metropolis were gasping in heat and thirst for something unusual, and newspaper reporters were weary in their search after the wherewithal to supply the demand. McKoen had yellow fever, because he had served on the steamer Merida, a ship which had been cleared at quarantine, because she proved herself clean.

The 50-4 Able Advocate.

It was quite gratifying to the friends of the 50-4 compromise of the State debt to see so large and representative an audience as was assembled at the court house at one o'clock yesterday to hear the speeches of Senator Jos. E. Bailey, of Clarksville, and Major A. H. Pettibone, of Greeneville, on that important and all absorbing subject. The two speakers being members of the opposing political parties, Senator Bailey being one of the leading lights of Tennessee Democracy, and their most favored United States Senator; and Maj. Pettibone being the most prominent and talented orator in the Republican party in the State, added additional interest, and served to draw out a crowd which pretty well filled the Criminal Court room, and the crowd was made up of citizens irrespective of party lines or nationalities.

The first speaker was Senator Bailey, he being introduced by Col. J. W. Gaut, and he was followed by Maj. Pettibone. Each occupied about one hour and a quarter, and both speeches were able, eloquent and convincing arguments in favor of the acceptance at the polls on the 7th of August of the 50-4 compromise. Both speakers said this was not their choice, but it is certainly the best course that can be pursued under the circumstances, and to vote it down would be looked upon as downright repudiation, by outsiders especially. The speeches elicited frequent applause, were listened to very attentively to the end, and seemed to create a favorable impression which will no doubt tell at the polls on election day.
